

Penn Dixie

Paleontological and Outdoor Education Center

HAMBURG NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY, INC.

PENN DIXIE PALEONTOLOGICAL AND OUTDOOR EDUCATION CENTER

MISSION STATEMENT

The Hamburg Natural History Society, Inc. was founded in 1993 to promote the study of the natural sciences with an emphasis on the field activities associated with the geological and biological sciences; to preserve, develop, and administrate the Penn Dixie Paleontological and Outdoor Education Center in Hamburg, New York; promote a regional fossil site to foster and encourage a medium for the public to study, collect, and keep all the fossils they find; encourage and promote upper level training of in-service and pre-service teachers; to promote a unique and classic natural resource that instills pride in our area and attracts visitors to the Buffalo-Niagara Region: and to aid in obtaining and administering funds to promote the study of the natural history in the Western New York Region.

2012
HNHS OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS

President – Thomas Johnston
Vice President – Timothy Hoelscher
Secretary – Jane D’Agostino
Treasurer – Kevin Hogan
Assistant Treasurer – Jack Flint

Directors

Peter Avery
Mark Castner
Dara Dorsey-Cote
Felice Krycia
Curt Lindy
Patrick Philipps
Gary Robinson
Michael Vogel

HNHS PERSONNEL

Executive Director – Jerold C. Bastedo
Program Staff – Leah Bartnik
- Chris CuvIELlo
- Jess Martin
- Stan Martin
- Mark Yetter